The End

The End has been explored and conquered by many players and is now facing cosmetic reconstruction to make it look stunning. The End is often visited by players to use the public enderman farm and enchanting table. The farm has enderman fall and leaves them one hit away from death, allowing players to collect XP and repair their mending items. The End can be found by going through the public nether portal off of spawn and going south in the nether hub to an ice path. This path leads to public end portal.
