

The Overworld

The Overworld

This particular world has been graced with Dragon's presence, with his abundant knowledge and magical skills he has blessed it with special items obtainable through entering dungeons (which is directly behind spawn) and forging the materials at /warp forge.

Coolham123's home

The Overworld is the dimension the player first spawns in. Often venturing around exploring the bountiful lands, quickly finding the first house built on this reset by the admin coolham123. While perusing his home they find his lectern most often turned to the page 6 of 9 (nice!) which states stealing place blocks is against the rules next to the shiny diamond blocks. This is something called "A test". In this case it is to see if the likely new player has read the rules and won't steal the shiny diamond blocks. If they fail, they often get jailed, leaving them plenty of time to do /rules and read upon why they were jailed.
